HALF MILLION FIRE LOSS.

Twenty-Four Buildings Burned at Florence, South Carolina.

RALEIGH, April 4.—Fire at Florence yesterday destroyed one square and a half in the heart of the town. Twenty-four buildings were destroyed, including the Grand Central hotel. The loss is not less than $500,000.

No lives are reported lost, although some of the guests in the hotel had very narrow escapes. The buildings were of wood, and burned like timber. The fire department was entirely inadequate, and the flames had full sway.

The fire broke out in the grocery store of D. F. Parker, caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp. Other buildings destroyed were the Bank of Carolinas, city hall, the Knights of Pythias and the derrick machinery building.

FIRE IN THE MOUNTAINS.

Forest Fires in Pennsylvania Doing a Vast Amount of Damage.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 4.—The rain has not stopped the spread of fire in the Laurel Hill mountains and the flames are sweeping the Chestnut ridge territory, doing vast damage. The country side is astir trying to prevent further devastation.

A great deal of fencing and several farm buildings have been burned. The people in the Laurel Hills have been burning back fires and plowing fire-breaks around the property, but reports are that several families have been burned out and driven from the neighborhood, when they were located.

THIRTY PEOPLE PERISH. Nearly One Hundred Buildings Burned in an Austrian Town.

VIENNA, April 4.—Over 30 people are believed to have perished in a terrible conflagration at Klein-Porechlarn on the Danube yesterday. Up to the present time 18 bodies have been recovered from the ruins and at least 12 more are believed to have been cremated.

The fire swept through the town with great fury, leaving the ashes of nearly 100 buildings in its path.

SHOCKED TO DEATH.

The Electric Chair Claims Its Ninth Victim In New York.

SING SING, April 4.—James W. Hamilton, the colored ex-preacher and convicted wife murderer, died in the electric chair yesterday. He walked firmly to the chair, took his seat, his lips moving in response to the prayers for the dead. The victim was quickly strapped and a current of 1,740 volts was turned on.

The body jumped and strained at the straps and remained rigid. The crucifix in his hand cracked from the grasp he gave it when the shock came, and with its first contact killed the murderer.

The electrician stated it was the most successful execution by electricity he had witnessed.

The crime for which James W. Hamilton died was the cutting of his wife's throat at Winfield, L. I., Sunday night, May 2, 1892. Three years ago Hamilton was obliged to marry Annie Brooks, a pretty colored woman whom he had betrayed and who was in the employ of Druggist John Hepburn of Flushing. They did not live together and the husband had tried to obtain a divorce without success. He had expressed his determination to get rid of her.

One morning her body was found in a pond with her throat cut from ear to ear. Hamilton was at once arrested on suspicion.

It was proved that he had decoyed her from her home in Flushing to Winfield to look at a house in that town that he proposed to buy for a home. She told her employer on the evening mentioned that she was going to meet her husband. Both of them took the 8 o'clock train to Winfield, and Mrs. Hamilton was seen to leave the train with a man identified as Hamilton.

A broken cane, a razor and a cuff-button, which proved to be the property of Hamilton were found on the banks of the pond and Hamilton made two different explanations of how the cane came to be there. A feature of the case was that no bloodstains were found on the clothing of either of them, which was accounted for by the assumption that the throat was cut while both were in the water. Evidence was produced that Hamilton had been meditating the crime for some time.

TOWN DESTROYED.

Only a Few Dwellings and Two Business Places Left.

RICHMOND, April 4.—The town of Clarksville, Va., is in ashes. At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon fire was discovered in a house adjoining Pettingill's store, but was thought to have been extinguished. Later it was found that the store building of Pettingill was on fire.

A strong gale was blowing at the time, and, despite the most strenuous efforts of the citizens, the flames spread rapidly from building to building, sweeping everything before them on both sides of Main street down to the river, and within two hours the element had done its work. Only three buildings on Main street escaped, the Richmond and Danville depot, Magee warehouse and Bugge's store.

As soon as the fire was discovered aid was telegraphed from Oxford, and the Oxford Fire company, about 100 strong, promptly responded, and reached the city on a special train about 4:45, but the town was then in ashes, but by their efforts the Richmond and Danville depot was saved. Never was a town more completely swept away. Most of the residences, both the hotels and the Episcopal church were burned.

Two colored men, whose names were not learned, were burned to death. One of them was seen to go into the Alliance warehouse, but, the roof falling, he was never seen afterward. The other was rescued in a dying condition. There are hardly enough houses left to shelter the inhabitants, and some of them are in a pitiable condition, having lost all.

HISTORIC RELIC.

The Pipe Smoked by Powhatan and Captain John Smith.

RICHMOND, April 4.—Captain T. C. Morton, secretary of the Virginia board of world's fair managers, has in his possession the identical pipe that was smoked in the peace contract between the Indian chief, Powhatan, and Captain John Smith. The pipe, which is of stone, has the unmistakable marks of age upon it. It is cut in the shape of a hatchet, or, as the Indians say, tomahawk. A hole is bored through the pipe, and it is said that two stems were inserted, so that the parties to the contract could both smoke at the same time.

"Do you intend returning to Russia?"

"I understand I am barred out now," said Mr. Kennan, "and I will hardly return to find out if it is true."

He Kicked the Bucket and Still Lives.

VALPARAISO, Ind., April 4.—Harvey W. Robinson, a prominent member of the Grand Army, received a curtain lecture by his wife yesterday. He declared that the ingratitude of this world made life a penance, and proceeded to the basement of his residence, where he tied a rope around his neck and a joist, and kicked the bucket from under him. He was discovered by his children in time to save his life.

Trackwalker Killed.

RICHMOND, April 4.—A special from Louisa, Va., says that westbound train No. 1 killed Monroe Robinson, colored, at 8:30 p. m., who was asleep on the tracks. He was the trackwalker of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad for the Frederick's Hall section.

COAL MINE FLOODED.

Ten Men at Work at the Time of the Accident.

ALL RESCUED EXCEPT TWO.

The Other Two Are Still in the Mine With No Hope for Their Release—A Repetition of the Jeanesville Disaster of Two Years Ago, When 18 Men Were Drowned.

HAZELTON, Pa., April 4.—At 9:30 Monday morning another mine horror occurred just on the outskirts of this city. The mine is known as Laurel Hill, and is operated by Pardee Brothers. The nature of the accident was almost a repetition of the Jeanesville disaster of two years ago, when 18 men were drowned.

The report that the water standing in the Sugar Loaf mine had burst into the Laurel Hill and that a cave-in followed it was first circulated. About 800 men are employed in this mine. The effect produced by the report of the accident was electrifying. In less than five minutes 1,000 people were hurrying to the scene of the disaster.

Among the first to arrive was Frank Pardoe, one of the operators. His intention of descending the ill-fated mine was barely announced when 20 miners stepped forward to accompany him. They were at once lowered into the pit, and when the carriage returned Mine Superintendent Durkin, heading 10 more rescuers, boarded it and were immediately dropped into the fatal mine. The fifth lift is the point at which the accident occurred, and is over 600 hundred yards below the surface.

Superintendent Durkin and his band of rescuers had barely reached the bottom when the signal to hoist again was given. It had on board a crowd of three grimy miners. These three men had been caught by the tremendous rush of water and were carried by it to the foot of the slope. The three sustained serious injuries, caused by being knocked against timbers. They were speedily conveyed to their homes.

The first authentic information of the disaster was then made known and proved a source of great relief to the throng of people assembled.

A close investigation showed that but two men had perished—Thomas Hudson and John Trembath.

The story of the flood, so far as can be ascertained at this time, is as follows: "The east gangway of the fifth lift of Laurel Hill is driven on what is known as the Wharton vein. Another gangway from the same lift is driven on the big mammoth vein situated in No. 3 colliery. The fifth lift of the latter lope has been partly opened, with probably 100 yards of gangway leading from the bottom."

Ten miners have been rescued. Two are still in the mine, and it is believed they have been drowned.

KENNAN KEEPS TALKING.

He Raises Objections to the New Treaty With Russia.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Speaking of the proposed Russian treaty with the United States, the famous traveler, George Kennan, in an interview here, said:

The treaty is now in President Cleveland's hands, only awaiting his signature to become a law. The extradition rights given Russia in this treaty might result in great injury to returned Russians. The privileges granted in this measure to returned Russian suspects do not balance at all the privileges accorded to men extradited by the United States, and it would certainly be well if the treaty should not become a law. Ever since the present czar came into power a large part of Russia has been subject to martial law.

A governor of a province may decide and declare that any case, no matter of what character, must be tried by military law. The matter is entirely in the hands of the governor, and he uses his pleasure in the matter. So a case which is by all means entitled to an open public trial may be tried behind locked doors, and the public know nothing of the developments or transactions. Thus is given dangerous and formidable power, which may be used with the vilest injustice to an innocent prisoner.

On the contrary, when a man is extradited by the United States, fair, open trial is given before the public, and the secret chamber process would be considered an infamous outrage. Should the treaty become a law, then by legal process Russia can step into our country, seize her subjects, hurry them home, and by a star chamber farce condemn them.

Peter Farley, one of the recognized leaders of Local Assembly 145 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, after reading it carefully through, smiled and said: "I do not think that the public ever considered this organization a conspiracy against the laws of the country. I know that the officers of the New York Central have so considered it."

He read the article announcing that Arthur had been enjoined carefully, and was very indignant when he had finished. He then said: "This sort of thing will never do. It won't be allowed. The people will assert themselves sooner or later. The decision won't hold water. I do not blame the judges. I do not think the decision will prove a detriment in any way to the men. I believe that it will bring them together and make them stronger. I consider it persecution, and the men will stand by each other more than ever and will be more determined to carry their purpose through."

It was further learned that should the court decide that the organization of locomotive engineers was unlawful, no attempt would be made by the officers of the New York Central railroad to break up the assemblies on their line.

Chief Arthur Refuses to Talk.

CLEVELAND, April 4.—Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers refused to discuss the decision of the court yesterday. "It is all right," he said. "The engineers will get through somehow. I do not care to say what we will do next, but I have not given the subject a moment's thought."

ONE STRIKE KILLED.

Novel Methods of the Painting Boss at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, April 4.—The painters' strike at the world's fair grounds was settled in a unique manner Monday morning.

Superintendent of Painting Allen called the 150 striking painters together and asked all those who were willing to work for 35 cents an hour to step to one side. One hundred and twenty-five men did this, the others being dismissed.

Mr. Allen then said to those remaining: "Just to show you men that the exposition authorities mean to do well by you, I want to announce that we will pay you 45 cents an hour. This is 5 cents an hour more than you asked for when you went out."

A majority of the carpenter contractors have signed the union scale granting an increase of wages. Several firms signed this morning and others will sign before night, as no delay can be tolerated now.

LIMA, O., April 4.—William Hamilton, a forger wanted at Troy, was captured here yesterday.

DECISION RENDERED.

Judge Ricks Decides Against the Engineers.

LENNON GUILTY OF CONTEMPT.

He Is Fined Fifty Dollars and the Cost of the Proceedings—An Injunction Allowed Against Chief Arthur—Samuel Gompers' Views of the Decision.

TOLEDO, April 4.—Yesterday in the United States circuit court Judge Ricks rendered his own decision in the case of the Lake Shore engineers and firemen who refused to handle Ann Arbor freight and read Judge Taft's decision in the injunction case of the Ann Arbor railroad, wherein an injunction against Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, restraining him from issuing, promulgating or continuing in force any rule of the brotherhood which shall require or command any employee of the various connecting lines to boycott the Ann Arbor road.

In the case of the Lake Shore engineers who, obeying the laws of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, refused to move the cars by the officials of the company and did not do so until ordered to by brotherhood officers after the boycott was raised, was guilty of contempt of court and sentenced him to pay a fine of $50 and the costs of this proceeding, upon payment of which he would be discharged from the further orders of the court.

The seven other men were discharged.

In the injunction case, in which Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is made a party, he decided that the whole brotherhood was a conspiracy against the law of the country, and that inasmuch as Arthur gave the orders that precipitated the boycott, an order for a temporary injunction against Arthur as prayed for was allowed.

Attorney Hurd at once gave notice that he would take an appeal to a higher court.

Samuel Gompers Talks About the Decision

NEW YORK, April 4.—In speaking of Judge Taft's decision in Toledo yesterday that the whole Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was a conspiracy against the law of the country, Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, said: "It is all utterly unjust, outrage. It is contrary to the declaration of independence. The judges may think that they have done right in rendering this decision, but they will find that it will recoil upon their own heads. They will find they can not prevent the people from having their rights and improving their prospect of employment as much as possible."

You can't down a good man. Brother Curran, editor of the News, was re-elected Mayor of Dover Saturday for the third term. The people made his election unanimous this time.

THE news from Washington is that Secretary Carlisle will change the form of the debt statement before May 1st. The changes will be radical, and will simplify the statement. The simpler the better. What is wanted is a statement everybody can understand, and Secretary Carlisle's move is a move in the right direction.

Getting 'Em Down Pat.

Secretary Carlisle is having prepared a list of the employees of the Treasury Department, with the salaries they receive, and will have it arranged by States. When completed it will show the number of employees credited to each State, the aggregate salary the people from the State receive, and a column showing what by the law of appointment the State should receive. The list has been prepared already to such an extent as to show a great disproportion, some of the States having many more clerks than their proper quota, and others less. The District of Columbia is credited with more than 1,000 out of 4,000 employees, when its quota, it is said, should only be eleven people. Secretary Carlisle, it is understood, intends, by every means in his power, to reduce the District of Columbia's list of employees, that the States may receive their proper quota of appointments.

The Collectorship.

State Senator J. H. Mulligan, of Lexington, has arrived at Washington, and the Courier-Journal correspondent says: "He is a little uneasy about the story sent out that Colonel Shelby has a cinch on the Collectorship of the Lexington district. He wants to investigate the matter and satisfy himself. Mr. Mulligan is an applicant for the Collectorship. He entered the race early in the season. He has the indorsement of some prominent Democrats in Kentucky, including members of the State Legislature. Perhaps if he could satisfy himself that Colonel Shelby has a 'lead-pipe cinch' on the Collectorship he would withdraw his papers and try for some other job."

A Washington letter to the Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat says of the contest for the Lexington Collectorship:

"Captain Alf. Bascom is the leading candidate for the Collectorship of Internal Revenue, and his only opponent is Mr. Shelby, of Lexington. Congressman Breckinridge backs the Lexington man naturally, but the burden and weight of political and party indorsements are with Bascom. Senators Blackburn and Lindsey indorse and back Bascom, and, of course, Congressman Paynter makes his case a personal and sincere affair, and I wish to say, as a disinterested man, that Mr. Paynter is an influential term in this administration and has the confidence and respect of his colleagues. I am told that Mr. Carlisle is favorably disposed to Bascom and that the President is investigating the influence and record of the Bath County candidate. As it looks now, Bascom will be the next Collector of Internal Revenue in your district."

TWENTY-THREE years ago, Valentine Nolting, of Newport, slipped and fell on the ice. He injured his spine, and for months laid in a comatose condition. Finally he managed to be able to leave his bed, but found that his lower limbs were paralyzed, and that he had no use of them. He got around the house by the use of crutches, but for the past two years he has been bedfast. Dry gangrene finally set in and now his limbs are slowly but surely rotting away. At first one of his great toes dropped off, and a few days since the great toe and several other toes on either foot have decayed, and it was necessary to have surgical operations performed. He is of a jovial disposition, and is a highly-educated German scholar. He entertains himself by reading while he is slowly but surely nearing the grave.

Naval Rendezvous Hampton Roads.

The Chesapeake and Ohio will sell excursion tickets to Norfolk or Old Point Comfort and return for regular trains leaving Cincinnati April 15, 1893. It was long ago said that the navies of the world could ride in safety in Hampton Roads harbor. The rendezvous, April 17th, will show that this is true, as representative vessels from the greatest nations of the world will meet there and go through many interesting maneuvers. This is something that will only be seen once in a life time. Tickets will be low enough for every one to avail themselves of the opportunity. For further information, apply to C. and O. ticket agents.

Had Trouble With Her Lover.

Katie Spencer, aged about seventeen years, attempted to commit suicide yesterday afternoon at the home of her mother, a widow who lives on Second street, west of Short. The girl drank a quantity of poison of some kind. Her mother was not at home, but some of the neighbors hurriedly summoned a physician, and by the prompt use of a stomach pump, Katie's life was saved. She had had a quarrel with her lover, Pearl Bly, and this caused her to make the rash attempt.

Kentucky's Good Enough for Them.

Says the Ashland News: "Scarcely a day now passes that a miner or two does not come back from either Kansas and Missouri, where they were recently induced to go by agents of the Pittsburgh and Texas Coal Company. All of them are disgusted with the trip and ashamed of themselves for listening to the fairy tales of the agent. All of these proved to be unreliable and purely a game to deceive the men. Of all that went not one has been satisfied."

In Olden Times

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI TOBACCO MARKET.

While the offerings were some larger than during the previous week, they are still small, and the same can be said of the receipts. The monthly report shows a reduction in stock of 2,571 hds, and is 1,402 hds less than at the same time last year. The stock of old has been reduced, yet there is still a good supply on hand, which comprises mainly those grades selling from $1.00 to $1.50 a pound, and other grades. The week has been a satisfactory one, an improvement being shown in the demand, more activity in bidding, and a general advance may be noticed on all grades. In new tobacco the commoner grades of trashes and lugs were in active request and taken at full and satisfactory prices. Common and medium leaf showed an active demand and are selling at full figures. The supply of good leaf was of fair size, the demand active and full prices paid.

Of the 1,110 hds new sold from $1.05 to $3.95, 170 from $4 to $5.95, 28 from $6 to $7.95, 283 from $8 to $9.95, 293 from $10 to $14.75 and 83 from $15 to $17.50.

Of the 533 hds old 4 sold from $1.30 to $5.95, 2 from $5.75 to $5.85, 10 from $6.10 to $7.10, 22 from $8 to $9.90, 336 from $10 to $14.75, 159 from $15 to $19.75 and 11 from $20 to $23.

THE AMERICAN PRESS.

Something About the Association That Furnishes the Bulletin With Its "Plate" Matter.

The American Press Association, the leading plate syndicate in the United States, and the largest concern of its nature in the world, has, in association with a number of important daily newspapers throughout the country which are not included in the Associated Press or United Press, organized a new telegraphic news association, under the laws of the State of New Jersey, with a capital of $2,500,000, and named "The American Press." The new association has already in operation a system of leased wires extending from Boston through New York and Washington to the leading Western cities and to Memphis and New Orleans.

With the steady growth and increased prosperity of the daily press in the smaller cities and towns, and the sharp competition which compels each editor to strain every nerve not to be outdone by his rivals, there has developed a strong demand for a news service which shall supplement the work of the United Press and Associated Press, and do for the newer and smaller papers what the "U. P." and "A. P." are doing for the larger journals. Indeed, the "U. P." and "A. P." looking chiefly to the interests of the great dailies, have given somewhat scant attention to the varying requirements of the country press.

The American Press Association, owing to its intimate relations with papers in almost every city and town in the Union; its large plant, with its fifteen widely distributed branch offices; its perfect system of gathering and handling news; its well-established reputation for enterprise and integrity and its large means is in a particularly advantageous position to co-operate in the establishment of a telegraphic news association. Whatever the American Press Association does, it does well; its service has always been of the very highest quality; its managers have insisted upon having the very best material procurable in the artistic and literary markets.

That they will carry this same liberal and enterprising spirit into the telegraphic service there is not a shadow of a doubt. They have abundant capital and long experience in the newspaper business. The men at the head of the association are men of pluck, energy and perseverance. Their connection with the new telegraphic association is an indication that that enterprise will not be of an ephemeral nature, but that it has come into the field to stay.—The Journalist.

ELECTION AT ABERDEEN.

The election passed off quietly so far as old fashioned drunks and quarrels were concerned.

The three lucky winners for Town Council were Messrs. Small, Doty and Sorries; Town Clerk, Robert Purdon. The exciting contest was that for Township Treasurer between Joseph Cheeseman, Sr., Democrat, and Samuel Brookover, Republican. Mr. Cheeseman winning by a small majority. But we can justly feel proud of his victory, as he not only had the Republicans to fight but all of the disgruntled, sorehead, renegade Democrats, or rather so-called Democrats, men who vote at primaries pledging their support to the nominee and then deliberately break faith. Such men are not worthy of countenance. Mr. Cheeseman has made the best Treasurer the township ever had, and took it under difficulties no one else would accept. His election is a complete vindication of right over would-be might. He is looking at ye, Uncle Joe. NONPAREIL.
